The “Viewers Choice” is elected by the audience on the spot. The students of Department of Architecture use their imagination to transform the snack bar into a part of art. Chen Ching-mau of Department of Architecture expresses that “the design ideas for the two stores are different.” The original color of little Wang-ji is darker, so we decide to create a vigorous image and the feeling of popularity by drawing personal icon and applying white and orange as dominant hue. In order to achieve a balance we use vines plants to change the narrow space of shaved ice store and add cooling atmosphere at the same time. (~ Lin Wen-hua )
