In the night of December 3, 2004, a boisterous atmosphere was full of the atrium of Building of Dept. of Architecture because of the costume party called "The Night of Bingo—A Bubbly Zoo". Students from Dept. of Architecture disguised themselves as different kinds of animals, such as cow, dog, sheep, monkey, etc. and showed their costumes on the stage. A sophomore student, Mr. Lo Jo-wai, wore a cow dress which designed by himself with a nipple in his mouth, sacrificing his image but getting the biggest applause in return.
