As part of the celebration to the Foreign Language Week, the Russian Department put on a musical performance on March 29 in front of the Foreign Languages and Literatures Building. It was kicked off by Yen Zhi—hao, a senior of the Department who dressed up as the famous opera singer Vika Sichoska, who is known for his cross—dressing. No one was sure of Yen's singing, but they certainly enjoyed his impersonation! The real singing came from Professor Kuo Hsin—Yi, of the Department, who sang the theme song from a movie.
