

Tamkang Experimental Theatre Put up 4 Oneacters on Stage

英文電子報

A limelight casts upon a wayward youth who has lost both parents. Amidst the flurry of snowflakes, there come floating in the freezing air peals of happy bells announcing the advent of a new year. This is one of the touching scenes in a short oneacter, “Relaying Station” presented by the Experimental Theatre Club, TKU.

From December 18 thru 21, a succession of 4 theatrical performances was presented (enacted) on stage, in Room L209, College of Liberal Arts Building. The short one-act play’ s titles are: “The Alcoholic” , “The Relaying Station” , “Selling Hot Chili Peppers” and “One Line” .

Here are some of the feedbacks from the participating students who are definitely crazy about theatres.

Mr. Shih Yen-ming, director of “One Line” , says that they had done so much preparatory work last semester, so they can feel rest assured to go on rehearsing this semester. Since every play is a one actor, varying from comedy to tragedy, acting seems to be more important than anything else. It takes 2 hours to cover the time length of 4 one-acters.

Another theatre maniac, Mr. Chou Tsong-lin, says, although we are not professionals, our attitude is one hundred percent professional, to be sure.

Bravo!
