

Students Returning from Abroad after a Short Study Tour Are Happy with a 英文電子報

Students who went abroad for a short period of study tour were all back from their travels to Berkeley, Cambridge, Oxford and Japan, bringing back home a truckload of invigorating memories.

The Public Service Center was responsible for this activity in the past summer vacation.

Those returning students of T.K.U. reminisced their trips abroad with one unified impression—the trip was vital, interesting, useful and educational. They have learned a lot, and their language skill, notably English, has improved incredibly fast. They would advice their fellow schoolmates to follow suit, using the vacation time significantly by taking a study tour abroad. “Try it and you’ ll like it!” they say.