

An Innovative Feature Has Been Initiated As of This Semester:

英文電子報

As of this semester, a newly-fangled feature will be implemented within Tamkang Times, a Chinese newspaper published by school authorities. This time, all news stories will be translated into English for consumption by readers whose nationality is not necessarily Chinese but who can read English conveniently on the Internet.

After a careful deliberation, the English title of the digital Times will be Tamkang e-Times.

Mr. Lo Tso-jun, editor-in-chief of Tamkang Times, declared that aside from serving faculty and students whose first language is not Chinese, this electronic newspaper will be e-mailed scot-free to sister universities global-wise. Meanwhile, he also offered his good will, saying that this English version newspaper may serve as a guidance to students who wish to improve their journalistic English writing skill.